What is the tracking interval?

This is the frequency at which your location is logged. (This data is never sold or used for commercial purposes)

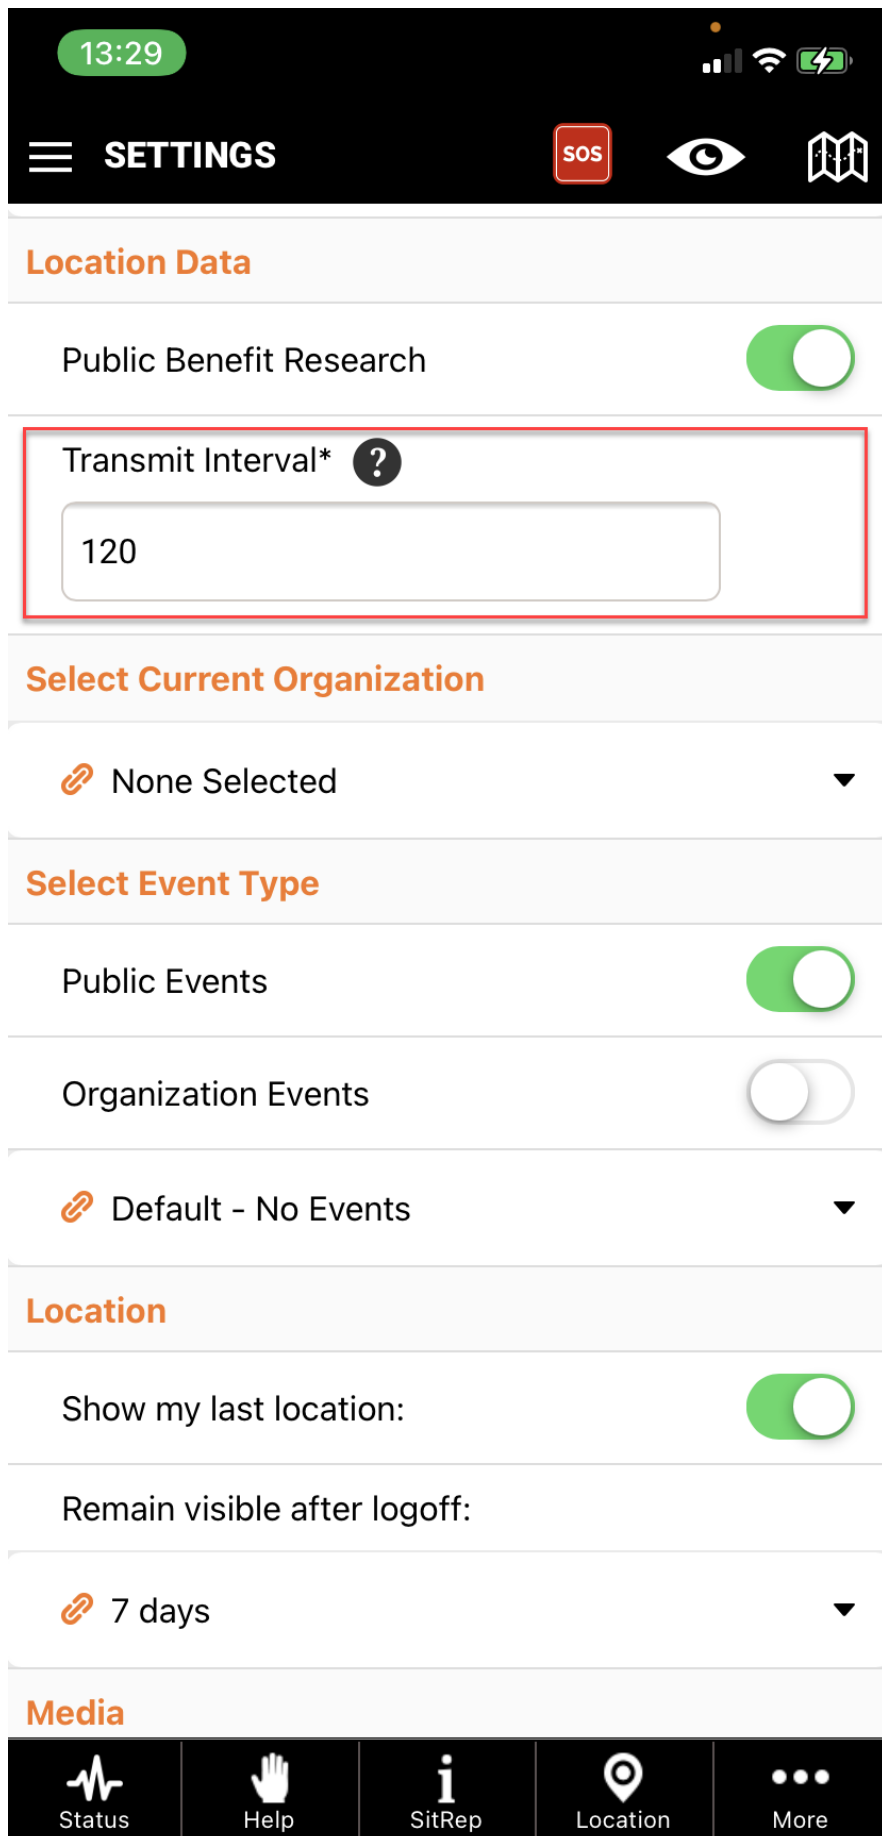

For more details on all tracking settings - click here

Sharing location information is important for your safety, dispatching as part of a rescue team, sending you location-based alerts and notifications, and finding you if something goes wrong. You have many options to go "invisible" or reduce your visibility to other PubSafe users.

Cross Reference: Visibility options - Click here

Update: Update screen capture when new tracking interval options are implemented.
